Following the discussion, Ted Mattern moved that the Board rise from Executive Session. The motion was seconded by Ellen Cappellanti, and passed. The Board then re-convened in general session.

INTERIM PRESIDENT’S REPORT

Interim President, C. Peter Magrath, made the following comments:

He remains cautiously optimistic that this year’s enrollment will be strong. Registration is on track and we expect between 4,500 to 4,700 new students in our freshman class. Additionally, graduate enrollment is up by nine percent (9%). This fall we will open the Honors College which will house an outstanding group of students.

The Board will address the request for a tuition and fee increase at this meeting, and Interim President Magrath recommends the four percent (4%) increase being proposed today.

He and President-elect Clements have been working diligently with Health Sciences to select a new Chancellor and this announcement is expected sometime in July.

There is a transition in progress within the office of the presidency. He and President-elect Clements have had extensive meetings and discussions on all issues relative to WVU and Interim President Magrath expects the change in power to be seamless. He stated that President-elect Clements cares deeply about WVU and will guide this land-grant university to great achievements in the future. Dr. Clements will provide strong leadership and opportunities for WVU and the State of West Virginia.
REPORT ON TUTITION AND FEE PROPOSALS FOR 2009-2010

Interim Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs and Research, E. Jane Martin, addressed the Board in conjunction with the proposed tuition and fee proposals for the upcoming year (which schedules are attached to this Consent Agenda item within the Board agenda booklet.) Highlights from her remarks included the following:

We all recognize that we are living in very uncertain economic times and we know that a large number of our students and their families are facing difficult financial situations. After careful evaluation and discussions, WVU academic and financial officers request a four percent (4%) increase in tuition and fees for both resident (an increase of $204/year) and non-resident students (an increase of $632/year).

These increases would generate an estimated new revenue of approximately $9.5 million dollars, which funds would be used for salary support (annualization of last year’s raise, faculty promotions and productivity enhancement and annual increment payments), PEIA employer rate increase, support for WVU’s Strategic Plan, Credit Card Convenience Fees, Utilities, Library improvements and support for our new Child Care Center.

WVU-Tech is also requesting a four percent (4%) increase for both resident (an increase of $200/year) and non-resident students (an increase of $516/year).

Potomac State College is requesting a six percent (6%) increase for resident (an increase of $160/year) and one percent (1%) for non-resident students (an increase of $72/year). Potomac State is much more dependent upon resident students than the main campus and the six percent (6%) increase is needed to address increasing costs.

WVU administration is also seeking an increase of four and one-half percent (4.5%) in room and board for the 2009-2010 academic year for all halls except Stalnaker and Lincoln, which are five percent (5%). These increases will also be utilized for salary support, PEIA employer rate increase, Credit Card Convenience Fees, food cost increases, and utilities.

Some “program-specific” graduate programs, such as law, business, nursing and pharmacy, will see increases ranging from about nine percent (9%) to almost eighteen percent (18%) according to the proposed schedules.

Following a discussion among Board members, Ellen Cappellanti moved that the Tuition and Fee Proposals be removed from today’s Consent Agenda and voted on separately. This motion was seconded by Ed Robinson, and passed. Ray Lane then moved that the Board approve the Tuition and Fee Proposal schedules, as presented. This motion was seconded by Ted Mattern, and passed by a majority vote of the Board. It is noted that Board members, Steve Goodwin, and SGA representative, Jason Parsons, argued that given the state of the national economy, now is the wrong time to burden West Virginia students and their families with another increase, and both voted against the proposal.

BOARD ITEMS

FY 2010 Interim Plan: Vice President for Administration and Finance, Narvel Weese, presented the FY 2010 Interim Plan for Board approval. Adoption of this Interim Plan will allow the University to begin the year with an approved plan. A revised plan will be presented to the Board of Governors for approval at its November, 2009 meeting. This strategy will allow President-elect Clements an opportunity to gain a more comprehensive understanding of the University’s plan and to explore the financial impact of potential changes in enrollment, state funding and endowment support.

Vice President Weese highlighted the budget uncertainty currently existing in that state appropriation revenues have experienced a one-time reduction of $6 million, but we are optimistic that the pending use of federal stimulus funding will be used to backfill the budget reduction. He additionally stated that WVU’s tuition and fee revenues should be available by September to reflect the impact of current economic conditions on enrollment (including first time freshmen, transfer and returning students.) Also, we must work in concert with the WVU foundation to ensure that current endowment commitments are being met.

The FY 2010 Interim Plan – Planning Framework encompasses the following:

- Maintain a balanced budget excluding unrealized investment losses and GASB 45 liabilities.
- Encourage normal mission-driven operations to maintain academic quality and limit burdensome spending restrictions, e.g. hiring and travel freezes, additional approvals on capital items.
- Define strategic priorities and invest in those priorities during this uncertain financial environment; e.g. research enterprise, salary increases, new faculty and staff positions, and new programs.
- Focus on identifying new sources of revenue and operating efficiencies.
- Recognize that tuition revenue is paramount to the University’s long-term success. Therefore, we must be sensitive to changing market conditions.
• Limit the impact of permanent budget cuts until there is greater certainty about the level of state support and other revenue sources.
• Effectively manage cash and other resources needed to maintain financial stability and deal with unforeseen events.

Vice President Weese distributed (and provided an overview) of the West Virginia University – Combined FY 2010 Interim Forecast, which document displayed a combination of actual and planned financial activity on an accrual basis from FY 2007 to the latest FY 2010 Interim Forecast. The primary purpose was to illustrate the FY 2010 Plan, which was derived from the FY 2010 Strategic Plan, and the revisions made to arrive at the current FY 2010 Interim Forecast.

Following a discussion among Board members, Drew Payne moved that the FY 2010 Interim Plan be placed on the Consent Agenda for passage by the Board. This motion was seconded by Ed Robinson, and passed.

Dean, summarized a report included within the Board agenda booklet, related to the legislative expectations associated with divisional status, a general definition of a divisional campus of West Virginia University and specific assumptions the University has for its divisional campuses (as a result of legislative actions in 2003 and 2006).
