BOARD ITEMS

Chairman Long announced that the Annual Report of the Student Representative, on today’s agenda schedule, will be presented during our June, 2009 meeting.

Status of WVU Healthcare Restructuring:

Interim Vice President for Health Sciences, Dr. Fred Butcher, presented the following overview of a proposed restructuring of the WVU Healthcare system:

The School of Medicine faculty practice plan (University Health Associates – UHA) and WVU Hospitals (WVUH) have the opportunity to significantly improve patient care and academic performance by creating a joint management structure. The joint clinical enterprise will be called WVU Healthcare. The proposed model will create an integrated academic health system, wherein there exists a social contract between the health care center and the population it serves. The new plan will create an organization better positioned to manage its resources and grow to serve its communities in a changing healthcare environment to provide optimal care and fully deliver on this social contract. The proposal will establish a tighter relationship between physician executive leadership and management. Faculty will play a greater role in governance, strategic direction and management of the combined organizations. There will be a single set of financial statements and a commitment to financial transparency. Key elements of the proposal include the following:

- The faculty practice plan (UHA) and WVU Hospitals will jointly create a WVU Healthcare Executive Committee, chaired by the Health Sciences Chancellor, to govern WVU Healthcare. It will have equal representation from the boards of UHA and WVUH, and those boards will delegate many functions to the Executive Committee.
- WVU Healthcare will have a single CEO. It is the CEO’s responsibility to assure that WVU Healthcare can contribute financially to the School of Medicine on a global basis at the level required to support all of the School’s missions.
- WVUH and UHA will continue to exist as separate corporate entities. The WVU President will remain the chair of the WVUH Board.
- The School of Medicine faculty members will have a significantly stronger voice in governance and strategic direction of the West Virginia United Health System. This will be achieved by making UHA a member of this organization and giving it the power to nominate faculty members to the board. Not only will this ensure full faculty involvement in leadership of the Morgantown campus, but it sets the stage for future advancement of educational research and clinical collaboration with other partners in the System.
The proposed model provides a platform for creating a better future by achieving the following key goals:

- Ability to create a single unified clinical vision and strategy aligned with the academic mission;
- Improved financial performance provides the faculty and WVUH with increased funds;
- Clearer and more rapid decision making with oversight from the Executive Committee;
- Reduced overhead from integration of administrative services;
- Increased faculty role in WVU Healthcare governance and management as well as increased faculty role in WVUHS governance; and,
- Improved availability of information for informed decision making.

In addition, the new model should provide tangible benefits, as follows:

- The proposed model should enable WVU Healthcare to grow market share, achieve efficiencies, and optimize reimbursement that could be worth $25M annually; however, it will take several years to achieve these benefits.
- The majority of the margin improvement results from growth of key service lines such as Cardiovascular and Cancer Care.

Dr. Butcher noted that this model will be a work in progress and possesses the flexibility to adapt to and accommodate unanticipated needs. Dr. Butcher further indicated that he has met with several constituency groups within the healthcare system, and the consensus is that there needs to be one strategic plan to operate under. The current goal for implementing the proposal is to gain all approvals, including a 2/3 vote of the UHA faculty members, in the spring and “go live” by July 1, 2009. In conclusion, Dr. Butcher noted that Interim President Magrath’s participation and endorsement of this restructuring was instrumental in moving the proposal forward.

Interim President Magrath informed the Board that he has met with President-elect Clements on several occasions, providing in-depth briefings on the status of the WVU Healthcare restructuring, and that President-elect Clements is in favor of the current proposal.

Following a brief discussion, Ellen Cappellanti moved that the West Virginia University Board of Governors endorse the restructuring of the WVU Healthcare System, as presented by Dr. Butcher. This motion was seconded by Drew Payne, and passed.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

Chairman Long requested that the Board go into Executive Session (Under authority in West Virginia Code §6-9A-4(b)(2)(A) and §6-9A-4(b)(10)and (12) to discuss personnel issues and legal matters. The motion was made by Ed Robinson, seconded by Dr. Steve Kite, and passed. The Board thereupon met in Executive Session. Following the discussion, Ted Mattern moved that the Board rise from Executive Session. The motion was seconded by Ellen Cappellanti, and passed. The Board re-convened in general session at 11:10 a.m. and moved to committee meetings before joining invited guests for lunch.

INTERIM PRESIDENT’S REPORT

Interim President, C. Peter Magrath, made the following comments:

Dr. Magrath has been in close contact with President-elect, James Clements, and they are working together to facilitate a smooth transition.

There are currently two significant searches under way at West Virginia University. A committee is being organized to conduct WVU’s search for a permanent provost. The composition of this panel will be announced in the near future. In addition, the search for the Chancellor of Health Sciences is moving forward. It is anticipated that in early to mid-June, the President-elect will start reviewing the top prospects.

As discussed during today’s Board meeting, the endorsement of the Health Sciences restructuring proposal is a big move forward for Health Sciences, the university, and the entire healthcare system.

April 14-18, 2009 has been designated as a special week to highlight WVU’s premier cancer care. From exemplary patient care, to cutting-edge research, public outreach and education, the Mary Babb Randolph Cancer Center (MBRCC) at West Virginia University’s Robert C. Byrd Health Sciences Center will share its journey with state citizens and the world during this time. Some of the nation’s pre-eminent scientists will be on campus to discuss the latest research in their fields. In addition, survivors and current patients will tell their stories of hope and survival, and cancer center nurses, doctors, researchers and students will discuss their passion for treating and curing cancer.

Recent student recognitions at West Virginia University include the announcement of two Goldwater Scholars and one Truman Scholar, in addition to two undergraduate students receiving a special acknowledgement from the Department of Homeland Security.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATES

Associate Provost for Extension & Public Service, Dave Miller, who serves as the legislative liaison for West Virginia University, reported on several topics being worked on during the current legislative session.
There are items currently being discussed which relate to the CTC at WVUIT (i.e. a move to reunite this entity with the WVUIT four year school) and WVU at Parkersburg (i.e. a move to bring WVU-Parkersburg back to West Virginia University) but no legislation has been passed as of this week.

Mr. Miller has been working with the WVU Student Government Association this year on issues related to a “towing bill,” which did not pass.

Senate Bill 63 is good news for higher education. It approves money from the West Virginia Lottery proceeds for capital projects. This legislation is on its way to the House.

Senate Bill 638 will determine how the capital projects will be funded. 30% will go to WVU and Marshall, with the remainder divided among the balance of institutions in the state.

Senate Bill 373, which relates to the Promise Scholarship, sets the floor at $4,750.00; raised the amount from $27M to $29M taken from excess lottery proceeds; dissolved the Promise Board; and moved the administration of the PROMISE program under the West Virginia Higher Education Policy Commission. This legislation is on its way to the House.

Senate Bill 464 gives the Public Employees Insurance Agency (PEIA) authority to charge $5.00 for each transaction processed on behalf of PEIA.

Senate Bill 695 relates to buying back unused sick leave from employees, but details are currently being revamped in this legislation to control costs.

House Bill 2961 relates to the reorganization of the WVU Board of Governors, and has passed the House of Delegates. This legislation would add a second faculty member to the board, either from health sciences or the university’s extension service. This bill is going to the Senate Finance Committee.

In reference to the current state budget, Mr. Miller advised that the Governor is going to send a letter today to the legislature, revealing new estimates on revenues. Mr. Miller added that since revenue estimates keep changing, and factoring in potential stimulus considerations, the legislature may have a special session in May and not have a budget until June.

Interim President Magrath thanked Mr. Miller for his diligent efforts, on behalf of West Virginia University, and added that we are well represented by having Dave Miller as our legislative liaison in Charleston.

DISCUSSION OF RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES

Interim President Magrath invited a discussion and question and answer session related to research universities. This topic was an expansion on the exposition by Dr. Curt Peterson of his Report/Presentation on the Research Enterprise during this morning’s Strategic Plans, Initiatives, and Accreditations Committee. Dr. Magrath noted that while West Virginia University is a 21st century engaged university with preeminent programs related to research, we are currently not as “intense” as we need to be in these efforts. He proposed that we need to: become more proficient in procuring federal fund-raising opportunities; become more entrepreneurial in developing partnerships with business and industry; and develop a strategic culture wherein research becomes a fundamental part of this university.
Dr. Magrath also stated that issues related to energy are high priority and offer substantive opportunities for future development. In fact, we have an Advanced Energy Initiative (AEI) within the Research Trust of West Virginia University. Dr. Magrath then introduced Dr. Terri Marts, recently named as the new Director of our Advanced Energy Initiative, and asked her to address the Board. Dr. Marts stated that helping our nation with its goals to become energy independent in an environmentally prudent manner is critical, and added that she is pleased to be part of this strategic initiative and to build on the legacy of success at West Virginia University, which has ambitious plans for research and development.

Dr. Curt Peterson, Vice President for Research and Economic Development and President of the WVU Research Corporation, concluded with a statement that Dr. Marts is a seasoned executive with more than 30 years experience in the strategic management of energy, defense and power-utility system projects with federal agencies and private corporations, who possesses vast experience and a network of contacts which are ideally matched to the task of moving AEI forward so that WVU plays a vital role in working to secure the energy independence of America.

Upon such approval, the request can be sent to the Vice Chancellor for Science and Research in Charleston.
